

Faculty, Staff, Students of our College Community,

The dimensions of Tuesday's massive earthquake are only now becoming clearer and more overwhelming. Together we mourn the devastation and loss of life in Haiti. Together we pray for our sisters and brothers, their families, friends and colleagues as they confront and cope with incredible death, injury and destruction.

As a community we send our thoughts and prayers to all those in the circle of shock and pain caused by the earthquake. We pray for hope. We pray for increased conscience and consciousness not just among those in Haiti but all of us. We pray in the spirit of thanksgiving for the international agencies and for those countries who send relief for their good works. We pray for the relief workers that they may have the spirit of patience, perseverance and hope. We pray for those who at this time may be searching for meaning and hope in their lives. We pray for Peace.

In addition to prayer you may wish to offer additional support in the relief efforts. Catholic Relief Services, CRS, has a website, crs.org, with updates on the situation in Haiti and the efforts of CRS which has offices in Port-au-Prince and has been serving in Haiti for over 55 years.

Hope for a Healthier Humanity, HHH, with whom our School of Nursing has had a special partnership in Honduras, has also had a long-standing relationship, having sent antibiotics to Haiti after the devastating floods and mud slides. You may send your support to hopeforahealthierhumanity.org
